Doings of Society In West

Babes Given Absolutly No Food

TO STARVE OUT THE "ANIMAL NATURE."

STARTLING STORY IS RELATED

About Mrs. Tingley's Institution—Dr. Anderson Testifies in the Times Libel Suit.

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 24.—In the Tingley-Times libel suit, the deposition of Dr. J. A. Anderson of San Francisco, once a member of the Tingley cabinet, was finished.

Anderson described his initiation into the Society of Lost Mysteries of Antiquity. He said all who were present sat on canvas and were supposed to be taking part in a very ancient ceremony.

All were dressed in light muslin costumes and the rite was solemnized in the open air. Describing the initiations Anderson said it consisted chiefly of Mrs. Tingley's telling of her dog "Spot" and what the dog had done.

Then Mrs. Tingley ate some fruit which was supposed to be a mysterious symbol and a part of the high initiating which was taking place. Anderson then told of how he was made a member of the Order of the Rising Sun—a Son of the Rising Sun.

The chief feature of this initiation was, he said, that a candidate held a sunflower. There was another order known as the Ancient Order of Scribes which was very high.

Anderson related in some detail, what Mrs. Tingley had said about the dog Spot. Mrs. Tingley, he said, had related how she was very blue and cast down and that Spot had gone to a heap of letters on the floor and picked out one from Dr. Allen Griffith, which greatly comforted her.

In describing the ceremonies the deponent said there were a great number of them. In some those who took part went about barefoot, but they varied so much that it would take too much time to describe them.

He said that when Mrs. Tingley went to welcome her visitors she wore a large purple robe that gave her a queenly appearance. Describing the sacred costume such as was worn to welcome a bridal couple at the home, he said it was something like a skirt, but rather longer.

"The one I wore," he said, "was like a wrap belted at the waist. Men and women wore about the same."

All those who took part carried lighted torches in order to read improvised parts and responses of the ceremony, which took place at midnight, and was supposed to be one of great antiquity.

Concerning care of children, the deponent continued: "The little tots were fed principally on bread and milk. I am referring to those from a year to two years old. There was a class of new babies there. She had trouble with them because of Dr. Woods (Mrs. Tingley's physician.) He would not fall into line with her ideas as to food."

"She said he desired to have them fed, while she desired to have them starved first, because they could more quickly kill out the low animal nature in those children."

As to parents being separated from children, Anderson said: "I know of one instance in which they were fined. It was a matter of discipline."

Parents were permitted to see their children once in two weeks. Referring to the discipline of children, Anderson averred: "She takes away their food—that is, she orders them away from the table and orders them to cease eating if they do anything that she does not want; that is, contrary to the rules."

Referring to the feeding of the babies, Anderson said: "I was going through the grounds once with Mrs. Tingley. We came to the babies and one was only a few days old. She was explaining her methods, starvation— withholding the food. She said that in one case she withheld the food 21 hours. The child was about one year old.

"She said that the children's lower nature was subdued and broken; that the quickest way to bring it about was to adopt the course of withholding food from the child until the child came to its senses—until its soul appeared."

In reply to a question touching the status of the institution at Point Loma, Anderson said: "Truthfully, it is not a theosophical society at all. It is a seceded movement from a theosophical society—a branch."

He said he left the universal brotherhood because Mrs. Tingley had substituted her will for the institution. He would not acknowledge her as divine, as others did.

RANK

And Dignities Are Resigned

Archduke Intends to Earn His Living.

STORIES CONNECTED WITH THE SCANDAL

WHICH IS AGITATING EUROPE.

Conflicting Tales in Circulation About Flight of the Princess and Brother.

Vienna, Dec. 24.—It is reported that Archduke Leopold Ferdinand who is with his sister, the crown princess of Saxony at Geneva, has refused to accept any further allowance from his father, Archduke Ferdinand of Tuscany, but intends to earn his living. He will probably work at artistic engraving at which he is an expert.

One of the stories current regarding the reason for the crown princess' flight from Salzburg on December 12 is that her father had been most severe with her because of her love for such works as those of Zola. The archduke Leopold took his sister's part against the father.

The grand duke's estrangement from his father arose first from his determination to marry Mlle. Adamovic, who is with him at Geneva. When Leopold first announced his intention of marrying the lady, the Emperor sent another grand duke to induce her to give Leopold up. She refused.

The Emperor then expelled her from Vienna, allowing her $0,000 francs as a compensation.

Vienna, Dec. 24.—As cabled in these dispatches yesterday, the crown princess of Saxony is now in Geneva with her brother, Archduke Leopold Ferdinand, and Prof. Giron, a French teacher of languages, whom she met during her last trip to Paris. He is about 25 years old and said to possess great charm of feature. The princess has adopted the name of Fraulein von Oben and her brother is going under the name De Bourlano. It is said that he intends to take the name Leopold Woelfling.

It is stated that the Archduke has formally renounced his rank and dignities as a member of the imperial house, has resigned his commission in the Austrian army and returned all of his orders and decorations.

The whole of the Archduke's career is redolent with scandal dating from the time when he started to accompany the heir to the throne on a tour of the world. He only got as far as Colombia when he was obliged to leave the ship on account of his scandalous behavior. The Archduke has since been mixed up in a number of affairs and was confined for some months in an asylum.

The Archduke was at one time secretly betrothed to Donn Elvira, a daughter of Don Carlos and who eloped with Count Filippo Folchi in 1896.

Conflicting stories are being circulated as to the cause of the leaving of the Crown Princess and her brother. Friends of the court hint at a scandal involving the Princess, and say she has eloped with the French professor, while others say that the Princess left because of the liaisons of her husband.

True it is that up to her leaving the Crown Princess, while considered headstrong, was counted a synonym of virtue. It is stated that for some time she has made no secret of her intention to leave the man she declared was "loathsome" to her.

The Princess wrote to her mother at the end of November that it was her purpose to leave the Crown Prince and give up the prospect of Queenship, which, instead of being attractive, the Princess frequently said was detestable to her.

TURKEYS

GIVEN TO EMPLOYEES OF ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

Motormen and Conductors on N. & G. Line Receive an Advance in Wages Jan. 1.

The motormen and conductors employed on the Newark and Granville Electric railway were officially notified this afternoon that beginning with the New Year each one would be given an increase of one cent an hour on his wages. This makes the third increase in the wages of the employees of the road since the new company took charge, a few months ago. All the other employees of the Newark and Granville road, about fifteen in number, received a Christmas present of a big turkey.

The sixty-three employees of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company, including motormen, conductors and all men in the operating department of the road also received a fine turkey each. The raise in the wages and the Christmas turkeys make very nice and acceptable Christmas gifts, which are highly appreciated by the men, and speaks well for the liberality of the management.

REBELS

Again Take Field Against Castro

Matos Says He Will Be His Successor.

POPE IS SUGGESTED AS THE ARBITRATOR.

NO NOTICE HAS BEEN TAKEN

Of Reported Action of the Cruiser Bausan—The Replies of Powers are Received.

Willemstad, Curacao, Dec. 24.—The Venezuelan junta here claims to have advice from Caracas that the rebels have again taken the field and that President Castro has started for La Victoria with government troops to check the advance. Seven thousand rebels, it is said, began today a march on Caracas, the armistice having ended. They are moving on three roads, led by capable officers. General Matos, the leader of the revolution, will leave to join his troops in a day or two. He declares that Castro's downfall is certain and that he as Castro's successor will settle the demands of the powers. The rebels are well supplied with food and ammunition.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Although the state department has as yet taken no notice of the reported action of the Italian cruiser Bausan, in refusing to permit the Red D line steamer Caracas to discharge her entire cargo, the matter will be brought to its attention today through complaint made by the owner's agent at LaGuayra. Investigation will also be made of the case of an American named Jones who purposing to leave Venezuela for the United States and ignorant of the fact that a blockade had been declared chartered a sailing vessel at Guanta, his home, and started for LaGuayra to embark for New York. Near Macuta the Bausan fired upon him, seized his boat, searched Jones as if he were a criminal and refusing to listen to his explanations put him ashore after taking all his property.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The replies of both Great Britain and Germany to the Venezuelan arbitration proposition has been received by the state department. It is announced that they will not be made public until after the President's response thereto shall have been forwarded.

Rome, Dec. 24.—It is stated in Vatican circles today that the Venezuelan government has proposed that the Pope act as arbitrator of the differences between that country and the allies. The Vatican, it is stated, will not entertain the proposition unless it is unanimously made.

REYNOLDSBURG

"Wets" Won Tuesday by a Narrow Margin—P. A. Baker Talks of the Result.

The people of Reynoldsburg voted on Tuesday for a restoration of the saloons of the village, after a period of nearly 12 years prohibition.

The contest was spirited but void of trouble, and the wets won by a vote of 55 to 48. Out of the 103 voters not a single one was challenged. The vote cast was 12 less than that at the last regular election.

President P. A. Baker of the Anti-

Saloon league said, upon hearing of the defeat of his forces in the village: "I cannot say as yet whether any contest will be made, because I am not fully acquainted with the facts. I am not greatly surprised, however, for I have heard several times during the past few days that a united effort is being made in all the adjoining inter-urban towns to carry them for the liquor people."

"I am given to understand that the interurban railway officials are united with some men in this city who hope to establish objectionable joints in these towns and to derive a revenue by hauling men and women from the city to and from these resorts. I will have something to say when I get more positive information."

FUNERAL

Of Mrs. Harry Dean was Held Wednesday—Her Husband is Now Much Improved.

Columbus, O., Dec. 24.—The funeral of Mrs. Myrtle Dean, who with her husband, Harry Dean, was found unconscious at their home at Fulton street and Linden avenue last Friday was held this afternoon. Two brothers and a sister from near Columbia were present.

The coroner's investigation has shed no new light upon the cause of the condition in which Mr. Dean and his wife were found. The chemical analysis of the contents of the woman's stomach has not been completed, and the coroner will give out no statement until the chemist's report is received.

Prosecutor Shields has refused to turn over to Mr. Hull, the administrator of the dead woman's estate, the money found in the house. He says he will hold it until Mr. Dean is able to make a statement. The condition of the husband is much improved.

LORENZ

Afraid He'd Break Thigh Bone

Of Patient Whose Case Was Difficult.

FAMOUS SURGEON FAILED TO CURE LAST CASE.

A VERY DIFFICULT OPERATION

Finally Successfully Handled at the Last of the Boston Clinics—How It Was Done.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 24.—The limitations of bloodless surgery were demonstrated at the Children's Hospital by its great exponent, Dr. Adolf Lorenz, of Vienna. After laboring for 21 minutes with a patient, a boy nine and a half years old, who suffered with congenital dislocation of the left hip, but who was otherwise well developed, the great surgeon desisted and pronounced the case incurable by his method.

"Dr. Lorenz tried to reduce the dislocation and he couldn't get in," was the way one of the Boston doctors summed up the effort of the great surgeon to place the femur in the acetabulum.

The case was the feature of the day's clinics. The operation was a long and tiring one, for Dr. Lorenz and his assistant and he was loth to abandon the case as incurable. He went to the limit in his manipulations, but to no avail.

Altogether five doctors were employed in the effort to pull the leg of the boy down to such a position that the ball of the thigh would slip into the socket of the hip. When Dr. Lorenz gave it up it was because any further effort might result in breaking the thigh bone or causing a rupture.

"I wouldn't like my last case to result in an accident," he said almost grimly, and then made use of the incident to show the necessity of treating patients suffering with that peculiar deformity at an early age, "when the operation may be performed," he said, "by a turn of the wrist."

Dr. Lorenz had evidently selected the case for the purpose of demonstrating the great difficulty of dealing with congenital dislocation of the hip at that particular age and later, but that he also hoped to succeed was apparent by his long effort, an effort 10 times as long as any of the preceding day.

One other case selected was also difficult, the patient being a strong and rugged girl of 7 years. The other case of the day, a little bright-haired baby girl of three and a half years, was of the same class as was operated upon at the first clinic. The crowd of doctors who attended the clinic was much larger than on Monday, and they also assembled earlier. Not only was the room filled to its fullest capacity, but scores of doctors had to be content with a space in the corridor, out of sight and sound of the clinic.

For the second time during these clinics there was a fainting incident. This morning, as on Monday afternoon one of the doctors who had come to see the demonstration, fainted. The matter caused little disturbance. In each instance, it happened to be a man near the rear and top of the room who succumbed, and his fellow doctors raised the window and allowed him to lie on the floor, where the fresh air revived him. It was also necessary to conduct three female physicians to the door to prevent their swooning during the twisting of the limbs of the boy.

TWO TERRITORIES TO BE ONE STATE.

Indianapolis, Dec. 24.—Senator Beveridge has returned for the holidays. He says: "The omnibus bill which Senator Quay is trying to push through the Senate for the admission of all territories is occupying the entire time of the Senate. It will not become a law. The committee on territories, of which I am chairman, reported favorably on the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one state. This will be done."

THE CHRISTMAS TURKEY

His Complete Martyrdom in the Cause of Good Cheer.

Martyrs there have been in all ages and in all lands ever since the world began; and to their glory be it said that whether victims in defense of a principle or an idea they have done noble work in elevating the morals, the mind and the manners of mankind. Historians have sounded their praises in solemn prose, bays have been wreathed about their brows by the poets, while in the popular heart their names and deeds live on immortally; and in this glorifying of their memories is their sufficient reward. But there is one martyr whose annually recurring martyrdom excites no special comment of praise; who suffers unstayed by the knowledge that his sacrifice will linger long within the memory and upon the lips of men; who passes from us through the flames with naught to sustain him save the calm inward conviction that his loss is many others' gain. Need it be said that we refer to the Christmas turkey?

From his entrance into this troublesome world, an entrance heralded by a delicate piping and chirping at his shell, as though in modesty he knocked at the door of the world before entering, even until his exit is effected amidst the savory incense of sweet-smelling herbs and to the accompaniment of a leave-offering of cranberry sauce, the turkey's life is one of gentle, unobtrusive excellence—that rises to a climax of self-forgetful devotion in the act that brings it majestically to an end. Out in the pleasant country where his youth and young maturity are passed, he is a gracious, self-reliant bird, the first object of whose being, as it would seem, is to give the least possible trouble.

The turkey is not as chickens are. He knows how to take care of himself. He is a good forager, and he roosts upon trees sufficiently high for safety from the nightly visitors of henneries. Yet unresistingly he consents to be penned as the dark days of December are at hand; with an affable dignity peculiarly his own he eats of the grain given him and waxes fat for the sacrifice; and when the sacrificial moment arrives he lays his life down with scarcely an expostulatory gobble and comes starkly to market with his long neck bound up decorously in a white rag—looking like a defunct elderly gentleman in a choker collar.

And in his death his bounty is pretty evenly distributed in contributing wealth to his slayer and happiness to those in whose interest he is slain.

Surely, then, the Christmas turkey is a martyr whose deeds, though humble, are yet glorious, and whose de-sorts are great. Let us not stop martyring him—that would indeed be folly, depriving him, since he but lives that he may die, of an object in life, and depriving ourselves of the most succulent and toothsome of the dainties of Christmas tide—but let us recognize in him the same merits which we accord to the other martyrs with whose praises the world ever is ready to sing. Let us eat him henceforth in a reverent, loving spirit—suffering not our appetites to diminish, but rather enlarging them by the sauce-like tincture of respect and esteem. Yea, let us eat him gladly, for this Christmas turkey whose completed martyrdom in the cause of good cheer is celebrated in a hundred million homes throughout Christendom.

SOLDIERS

Favor Old Sixth Street Cemetery for City Hospital Site—Meeting Held Tuesday.

Twenty-nine old soldiers, comprising the members of the old Cider and Gingerbread club of this city, met at the home of Mr. George W. Wilson, 32 Western avenue. Coffee took the place of cider and the old veterans were treated to a surprise by the serving of a fine oyster supper. Gingerbread was held back for dessert. It did Mr. Wilson good to shake the hands of the old veterans. He is nearly blind and very deaf, and he took great pleasure in presenting two grandchildren. There was also present one family of four generations. The club, after the feast, was called to order by the chairman, Col. Chas. E. Kibler, and the question as to the site for the proposed hospital was discussed at length. It was unanimously voted that the best site for the hospital is the old grave yard lot, on Sixth street.

STORIES OF NAST.

Interesting Recollections of the Famous Cartoonist.

Prophectic as in the old days when his penel heralded the downfall of Boss Tweed and his henchmen was the cartoon of himself that the late Thomas Nast, famous artist and caricaturist, sent to the New York Herald on May 17, shortly before his departure for London to assume the duties of the post to which he had just been appointed.

Mr. Nast pictured himself as arriving on the red hot line of the equator, greeted by the yellow jack. The scourge of the tropics assumed the form of a skeleton jack-in-the-box, and on the box was written, "Yellow jack will dead-head you." An alligator, a lion, a constrictor and a volcano eruption welcomed him in the background.

"Goodby, I'm off," were the words the cartoonist had written on a letterhead of the Players club.

Mr. Nast sailed from New York on July 1, and as he leaned over the rail of the Orizaba he cried to the friends who were seeing him off:

"The United States, which I represent, loves peace. So do I. I would not be much surprised if we had plenty of peace after my arrival in Guayaquil."

Mr. Nast waved a little American flag handkerchief until the soft coal smoke from a passing tug blotted him from view.

Thomas Nast's name is almost inseparable from that of Tweed and his ring, to whose overthrow his life-long pencil contributed so much. Mr. Nast represented, in the concrete and by the weapon of satire, the public opinion which was aroused against the politician. It was often said that Mr. Nast's pencil was the only thing of which Tweed stood in fear. When Mr. Nast's picture, a group of vultures waiting for the storm to blow over, with the caption "Let Us Prey," came out, a cartoon which was condensed eloquence itself, the old politician emitted the cry which has gone down in the municipal history of this city:

"Can't you stop those pictures? I don't care what they write about me, but those internal pictures hurt!"

Another of Mr. Nast's famous cartoons represented Tweed as a money bag. With a few strokes of his pencil he converted a representation of a bag of gold into a caricature of Tweed's face.

To the satiric pencil of Thomas Nast the political and national movements of the past thirty years owe a debt acknowledged more freely by no one than by President Roosevelt, who, when police commissioner of New York, was reported to have told the veteran caricaturist, "Mr. Nast, I learned politics from your cartoons."

NOVEL WINTER CONTEST.

Snow Modeling Proposed For Schools of Cleveland.

During the winter a few Michael Angulos may be discovered among the schoolboys of Cleveland, says the Philadelphia Press. At all events, if a movement now under way is carried out successfully there will be interesting contests in the parks after the snow begins to fly.

The modeling of Venuses and Apollos and original statues will probably be one of the winter sports to be arranged for in the parks. Prizes for the best designs and the most skillful execution will be offered. Contestants will be provided with a lump of snow, and when "time" is called they will begin to construct statues according to their own imaginations. Prizes are to be distributed to various grades and different schools, and if found feasible a class of girl contestants may also be entered.

AMUSEMENTS.

The big musical comedy "Mickey Finn," which comes to the Auditorium tonight, is a guaranteed attraction. It is clean and refined and the makeup of the roster of the company is more than a guarantee of its excellence. Everything that is new in musical comedy is presented, it is surrounded by magnificent scenic investiture, sumptuous costuming, and the very latest ideas in unique light effects, and interpreted by the cleverest artists, whether comedie, dramatic, operatic, pantomimical or terpsichorean obtainable. The prices for this engagement are only 25, 35 and 50 cents.

AUDITORIUM TOMORROW.

The Bright Lights at the Auditorium Christmas matinee and night promise one of the cleanest and best vaudeville bills ever seen in Newark.

DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS.

"Rupert of Hentzau," one of the last great productions of the Lyceum Theatre, New York, is among the attractions booked for a performance here soon. For many years the stamp of the Lyceum Theatre on a production has been the guarantee of a first-class performance and the reputation of the famous play house has never been sullied by a mediocre presentation of any play. "Rupert of Hentzau" is no exception to the rule. All that ripe experience, sound judgment and liberal expenditure of money can accomplish has been lavished without stint on this production, which is one of the most important dramatic events of the season. A cast second to none will support that sterling young actor, Harry Lighton, who will appear in the dual role of the King and Rudolf. The scenery, costumes, properties and other accessories are all new, but are exact reproductions of those used at the Lyceum Theatre. Auditorium Friday night, December 27.

AUDITORIUM SATURDAY.

No period in the romance-like history of Mexico is more interesting than the short and brilliant reign and meteor-like fall of the Emperor Maximilian. It is during this period that the story of "A Royal Slave" is laid. The leading characters are of the proud old Castilian stock of the aristocratic families of Mexico, and the royal slave himself El Aguila (The Eagle) is the last descendant of the Montezumas, the ancient Aztec kings, but himself a peon, or slave, of the family DeCro. His is a splendid life picture of a race now scarcely more than a memory, and is a strange combination of kingly majesty, gentle tenderness and lion-like fierceness—a splendid barbarian. The company is a splendid one throughout, and the atmosphere and "locale" are finely carried out by the beautiful scenery and elaborate costumes. It is a play that an auditor will long remember with pleasure when the cheap, catch-penny productions are forgotten. Auditorium Saturday night, December 27.

A STORY OF DEVOTION.

"The Climbers," a new and original comedy by Clyde Fitch which was produced by Amelia Bingham last season at the Bijou Theatre, New York, proved to be the sensational success of the theatrical year, totaling a run of 200 nights, will be seen here at the Auditorium next Tuesday, December 30. The play owes its success to the perfection of production to the brilliant collection of players and to the careful attention to detail in all matters exercised by the Actress-Manager. The story is one of sorrow, devotion and temptation. At the time of her father's death Mrs. Sterling, the leading feminine figure of the play learns that her husband is connected with dishonest money dealings. She makes heroic efforts to save him, assisted by her husband's friend, Mr. Warden. Love develops between Mrs. Sterling and the latter but is mastered. Serious as its theme would appear the play contains many illuminating bits of clever comedy, furnished by the climbing tactics of

CHILDREN

WILL TAKE THEIR DINNER AT BARRACKS CHRISTMAS.

Salvation Army Kettle Has Taken in $45 to Date—The Plans of Capt. Clifford.

Up to this morning $45 in small coins had been dropped into the Salvation Army kettle for the Children's Christmas dinner. Many people have given articles of food besides money, so that the children are assured of a splendid Christmas dinner at the Salvation Army barracks on North Fourth street, at 12 o'clock tomorrow noon.

Capt. Clifford says that arrangements have been made to have a half dozen chickens, seven turkeys, potatoes, and other vegetables, cranberry sauce, plum pudding and pies cooked at the Star bakery tomorrow.

When the dinner was first suggested, Capt. Clifford visited Truant Officer Jones who gave him a list of names. The Captain personally called at the homes of those mentioned and left tickets for the children. Over 100 were distributed. In several cases the Captain found a widow with several little children dependent upon her for support and in a number of such instances he will send dinner to the home, not only for the little tots, but for the mother as well. Capt. Clifford told the Advocate today that if any one would notify him tonight or tomorrow morning of a deserving mother with children who needed help he would so far as he was able try to serve them tomorrow.

The Captain is much pleased with the way the people have contributed to the fund and he intends to make it go as far as possible. The working people of Newark have been especially generous. The kettle is still "boiling" on the public square. The more money it receives the more children will be cared for on Christmas day.

This morning Mr. Hurbagave the Salvation Army captain a horse and wagon to be used in collecting articles of food donated for the dinner.

How the President's Son Cast Gloom on a Family Dinner

The president and a gathering of his friends were astonished while at dinner in the White House a few nights ago by most phenomenal conduct on the part of the electric lights, which was for a time unaccountable, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Times. From the full brilliancy of the well lighted room, while jest and laughter were affording relish to the dinner, the company was suddenly plunged into midnight darkness of primeval chaos. There was hardly time for an exclamation of surprise before the light flamed on again as suddenly as it went out. Before another outcry of surprise could be uttered it was again dark as Erebus, and the president and his guests were conscious only of each other's presence by the sound of their voices. A moment passed and again the light burst once more to its full measure of brilliancy.

By this time the president was on his feet and starting to find the electrician of the house. This worthy was soon on the spot and began an investigation with the result that he found the president's son, young Quentin, amusing himself by riding up and down in the electric elevator. As Quentin stepped and started the car at each end of his short ride the drain on the current put out the lights. Last year Quentin and the other White House children got a large and constant amount of fun out of sliding down the banisters. With the introduction of the new elevator this year they have transferred their attention to this means of getting up and down stairs.

MEMORIAL.

James Oliver Davis, the youngest son of James and Susan Davis, was born on the home farm, near Jackson town, February 12, 1841. He was united in marriage to Kate Elizabeth Davisson, February 11th, 1868. To this union three sons were born, John Franklin, Linnicus Claude, and Walter Vernon.

He united with the Methodist Episcopal church of Jackson town, O., February 15, 1875, and remained a faithful member until death. He died November 18, 1902, and leaves a widow, three sons, two brothers and one sister. They have lost their best friend, but only for a season at most, for a few fleeting years; may be for months, perchance for days; gone to the land of sunshine; no clouds shall lower, no gloom shall gather. All diseases and affections of the SKIN

Positively cleared away in a hurry. I vouch for it.

Thousands of wretched people are miserable—imagining they have a bad poisoning of the blood—when in nine cases out of ten it is purely a local parasitic manifestation in the skin which can be cleared away in a hurry.

Such misery now cleared away as at sunrise by the sun shines above. Not merely ATTEMPTED—not a matter of improvement only—but a clearing of it all away absolutely—and quickly, too.

(Case of Sammy Minkey. Cleared away and entirely cured in 21 days. Fully proven to me.)

I vouch for this--absolutely.

It has been proven to me beyond the possibility of doubt that a new medicament known as D. D. D. clears up the worst skin affections quickly. Its work seems astonishing, amazing, almost miraculous. (It is a specific formula which, because of its discovery by Dr. Decatur Dennis is known as "D. D. D.") Its actual record shows like a story of magic. But there is no room for doubt about it whatever, full proofs indisputable in every respect, have been submitted to me regarding hundreds of cases—among them the one case shown here of the boy (Sammy Minkey) who was cured in 21 days. The results are not only complete, but permanent, in this case it is now nearly two years since the disease was cleared out of the skin, and no taint of it has appeared since.

Each one of the known skin affections is parasitic in nature, and all of them have yielded to "D. D. D." The preparation is being used by most of the skin specialists. It is compounded for druggists solely by the D. D. D. Co., 70 Dearborn St., Chicago.

It is utilized by every family physician who has taken the trouble to investigate the work it is accomplishing. It is used in the Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

It will clear away any parasitic taint in the skin in from 3 days to 60 days' time. Visit the undersigned and see proofs that will make you a happier human. $1.00 buys the prescription—already made up in sealed bottles, with authentic label on each. The undersigned will fill mail orders on receipt of price.

MISS IDA M. SNYDER,

Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club.

WINE of CARDUI

Menstrual irregularities are generally the beginning of a woman's troubles. With the vitality at a low ebb, the blood weakened, the digestion disordered, she goes about pale-faced, hollow-eyed and haggard, a piteous contrast to the blooming health of her former self. But over 1,000,000 women have found health again by taking Wine of Cardui. As a regulator of the menstrual periods Wine of Cardui has never been known to fail. It has seldom failed to restore perfect health, even in the most persistent and aggravated case of weakness.

Miss Ida M. Snyder, of No. 535 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has used Wine of Cardui and she says it helped her into a new life. Health to Miss Snyder is worth a great deal. She is an attractive young woman with intellectual attainments and she occupies the position of Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. This position marks her as a person of intellect, culture and refinement and it speaks highly of the respect and trust her fellow women have in her. She writes:

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for."

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McClure's Wine of Cardui, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. The Wine of Cardui is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one devoted disease that never has been able to cure all its victims, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known for the medical Catarrh. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature to its normal state. The price is 50 cents. The first electric railway was that of Siemens of Berlin in 1879.

"Miss Tarbell's work is of unequalled importance as a 'document' of the day. Her story has live men in it; they suffer and work and win and lose their battles with the verisimilitude that removes the tale from the dry statement and clothes it with the color of human interest and the vivid rainbow garment of human sympathy. * * * The results of her work are likely to be far-reaching; she is writing unfinished history."—Boston Globe.

KNOCKING OUT OLD SANTA CLAUS.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch has the following jab at Hamilton and her preachers:

The Protestant ministers of Hamilton, O., are protesting against Santa Claus. They have decided that the old man is a myth, and "that the churches are not justified in fostering even so innocent a superstition," also "that Christmas entertainment programs should be confined to Christmas carols" minus the "Christmas candy."

This blow, alas, is very hard; but dear old Santa Claus is barred; He has been sentenced to eviction

By certain ministers, because

They say, (oh, fury!) Santa Claus

Is nothing more than childish fiction.

No more the children he will please

With Christmas toys and Christmas trees,

Nor come to cheer them from a distance.

Because you see, old Santy C.—

The case is plain as plain can be—

Has no corporeal existence!

The preachers say it is not right,

Although delusions bring delight,

To foster such a superstition,

And make the children all believe

That Santa's real. (To deceive

Them would be such an imposition.

No more in some mysterious way

Will they be cheered on Christmas day

With candies, nuts and things in barrels,

But to improve their little souls

And save them from perdition's coils,

They'll be regaled with Christmas carols.

Oh, what a treat 'twill be for them

To sing about Jerusalem.

While other greedy kids are sitting

Around some foolish Christmas tree

And eating (such vulgarities!)

Until their sides are nearly splitting.

Yes, Santa Claus is banned and barred

From Hamilton Ohio's yard,

While all the world exclaims, "Oh lie, oh!"

But is the old boy down and out?

No! He will simply change his route,

And cut out Hamilton, Ohio.

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

Result of the Great Seal Drawing Contest Made Known By Styron Beggs and Company Through the Committee.

Never in the history of Newark has any contest excited so much interest or been of greater benefit to the pupils of our schools than has the one just ended. To win a prize from 1200 contestants is an honor that means much to the pupil and should not be lightly regarded by the parents.

Success in this instance means merit, and whether it comes from natural ability or from patient and persistent effort, is worthy of recognition. We regret that many books showing most excellent work could not be entered in the contest for not complying with all the conditions, and this should teach pupils the necessity of paying attention to details when entering a contest of this kind.

The decisions have been fair, just and right. The prizes have been carried by those who have received them and we are fully satisfied with the decisions and most sincerely thank them for their assistance.

TRINITY CHURCH

Two Services on Christmas Day Each a Celebration of the Communion at 7 and 10 a. m.

On the Feast of the Nativity, commonly called Christmas Day, there will be two services at Trinity church, each a celebration of the holy communion. The first will be at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, without music. The second service will begin at 10 o'clock and be marked by very elaborate but devotional music, for which the choir has rehearsed for several weeks. There will be a short sermon. The church will be appropriately decorated. Every one, whether a communicant of the church or not, is invited to be present at this grand service, which indeed is intended for the general public. The very word Christmas means "Christ Mass" the old English name for the celebration of the holy eucharist, and the day cannot properly be observed by Christmas without some religious commemoration. The Christmas Eve service will be held at the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Following is the program for the 10 o'clock service on Christmas day:

Processional Hymn, Adeste Fideles, Reading.

Kyrie Eleison (nine-fold), Battman.

Gloria Tibi, and Gratias Tibi, Battison Haynes.

Nicene Creed, Battison Haynes.

Antiphon, "There Were Shepherds," Morrison.

Sursum Corda, etc., Battison Haynes.

Sanctus, Battison Haynes.

Benedictus Qui Venit, Battison Haynes.

Agnus Dei, Battison Haynes.

Combination Hymn, 60, "Angels from the Realms of Glory," Smart.

Gloria in Excelsis Deo, Battison Haynes.

Post Communion Hymn, 58, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," Redner.

Recessional Hymn, 51, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," Mendelssohn.

Morning prayer will be said at 9 o'clock. The Christmas music will not be repeated next Sunday.
